Part I — Foundation

1. Policy Statement

Southern Cross Strategic Holdings Pte Ltd, together with its subsidiaries and controlled entities (hereafter referred to as "the Company"), is committed to conducting all operations in Papua New Guinea and in the Republic of Fiji with integrity, discipline, professionalism, respect for human dignity, and full compliance with applicable law.

The Company provides security, logistics, infrastructure and corporate support services in environments where the conduct of a single individual can place lives at risk, damage community relationships built over years, and jeopardise the licences, contracts and standing on which the livelihoods of all personnel depend. For that reason, the standard of conduct required of every person deployed by the Company is higher than the minimum standard required by law.

The Company adopts an uncompromising zero-tolerance position toward criminal conduct, serious misconduct, corruption, substance abuse, violence, sexual exploitation and abuse, theft, weapons offences, abuse of local communities, and any behaviour that threatens:

- human life, safety, health or dignity;
- the security and continuity of Company and client operations;
- the rights, welfare and cultural integrity of local communities and landowners;
- the reputation of the Company, its subsidiaries, its clients and its partners;
- the sovereignty, laws and institutions of Papua New Guinea and the Republic of Fiji; or
- the trust placed in the Company by governments, landowners, clients, regulators and stakeholders.

Deployment into Papua New Guinea is a privilege, not an entitlement, and it carries a high level of personal responsibility. Every deployed person shall conduct themselves as an ambassador of Southern Cross Strategic Holdings, of the Republic of Fiji, and of the professional services the Company represents.

Zero tolerance means that prohibited conduct will not be excused, minimised, negotiated away, settled privately or concealed — irrespective of the rank, nationality, length of service, technical value or personal connections of the individual concerned.

2. Biblical Foundation and Corporate Values

The Company is founded on Christian values, and the ethical foundation of this Policy is reflected in the following Scripture:

"Whoever walks in integrity walks securely, but whoever takes crooked paths will be found out."
— Proverbs 10:9

"Do to others as you would have them do to you." — Luke 6:31

"He has shown you, O mortal, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God." — Micah 6:8

These principles are applied without discrimination. The Company employs and serves people of many faiths, denominations and traditions, and no person shall be favoured, disadvantaged, pressured or judged on the basis of religion or belief. What the Company requires of every person, regardless of belief, is the conduct these verses describe: honesty, self-control, faithfulness, respect, humility, accountability and integrity — in professional duty and in personal life.

The corporate values that give effect to this foundation are:

Value	What it requires in practice
Integrity	Doing what is right when no supervisor, camera or client is watching; refusing every improper advantage.
Discipline	Adherence to lawful orders, procedures, testing regimes and standards of dress, sobriety and bearing.
Respect	Treating every colleague, community member, landowner, client and detainee with dignity.
Protection	Placing the safety of people — especially women, children and vulnerable persons — above convenience, cost and reputation.
Accountability	Reporting honestly, accepting scrutiny, and owning the consequences of one's own conduct.
Stewardship	Safeguarding Company, client, community and environmental resources entrusted to our care.
Courage	Speaking up about wrongdoing, including wrongdoing by seniors, and intervening safely when a person is at risk.
Service	Serving the client, the community and the nation with humility rather than entitlement.

3. Purpose and Objectives

The purpose of this Policy is to:

1. establish clear, written and enforceable standards of behaviour for all deployed personnel;
2. identify the conduct that is strictly prohibited and classify it by seriousness;
3. protect employees, local communities, clients, landowners, partners and stakeholders from harm;
4. prevent criminal, unethical, exploitative and culturally inappropriate conduct before it occurs;
5. provide fair, prompt and documented procedures for reporting, investigating and responding to alleged offences;
6. enable the immediate removal of any person who presents a safety, security or reputational risk;
7. ensure that serious matters are referred to the appropriate authorities and are not resolved privately;
8. protect victims, survivors, witnesses and whistleblowers from retaliation;
9. incorporate zero-tolerance obligations into every employment, contractor and deployment agreement;
10. align Company conduct with Papua New Guinea and Fiji law, client requirements and recognised international standards for responsible security operations; and
11. protect the integrity, licences and long-term sustainability of Company operations.

Measurable objectives. The Company shall aim to achieve, and shall report against, the following: one hundred per cent (100%) signed acknowledgement of this Policy before deployment; one hundred per cent (100%) completion of pre-deployment ethics and safeguarding training; acknowledgement of every report within twenty-four (24) hours; and zero substantiated instances of retaliation against a person who reports in good faith.

4. Scope and Application

4.1 Persons Covered

This Policy applies to:

- directors, executive officers and members of senior management;
- permanent, fixed-term, temporary and casual employees;
- expatriate, Fiji-recruited and locally recruited employees;
- security personnel, including guards, supervisors, response teams and control-room staff;
- engineering, construction and infrastructure personnel;
- logistics, transport, aviation, marine and procurement personnel;
- administrative, finance, human resources and corporate support personnel;
- medical, maritime, canine (K9) and emergency response personnel;
- consultants, advisers, trainers, auditors and interns;
- contractors, subcontractors and labour-hire personnel;
- agents, representatives, joint-venture personnel and community liaison officers operating under the Company's authority; and
- visitors, dependants and guests residing in or entering Company-controlled camps, vehicles or facilities.

4.2 Situations Covered

This Policy applies:

- during working and non-working hours;
- inside and outside Company camps, bases and facilities;
- at project sites, offices, accommodation, messes, recreation areas and transport locations;
- during authorised leave, rest days and stand-down periods within the operational area;
- while using Company vehicles, vessels, aircraft, communications systems or equipment;
- during travel between the Republic of Fiji and Papua New Guinea, and during transit through any third country;
- at community, client, government or stakeholder events;
- on Company and personal social media where the conduct identifies, references or reflects on the Company; and
- whenever an individual's conduct may affect the Company's safety, legal position, licences, reputation or operations.

4.3 Relationship to Law and Contract

This Policy operates alongside, and does not replace, the law of Papua New Guinea, the law of the Republic of Fiji, the terms of individual employment and deployment contracts, and the requirements imposed by clients and joint-venture partners. Where this Policy sets a higher standard than the law, the higher standard applies as a condition of employment. Where a provision of this Policy conflicts with applicable law, the law prevails and the remainder of the Policy continues in full effect.

5. Definitions and Interpretation

In this Policy, unless the context requires otherwise:

Term	Meaning
Category A Offence	Conduct listed in Section 9 of this Policy, being conduct that is criminal, or that creates a serious risk to life, safety, dignity, security or the Company's licence to operate. Category A conduct is treated as gross misconduct.
Category B Offence	Serious misconduct listed in Section 10 that is not of itself criminal but that materially breaches Company standards, and which may escalate to Category A if repeated, aggravated or concealed.
Category C Offence	Minor misconduct listed in Section 11, ordinarily addressed through coaching, counselling or a warning.
Child	Any person under the age of eighteen (18) years. Where the law of Papua New Guinea or Fiji sets a higher protective age for a particular purpose, the higher age applies.
Company	Southern Cross Strategic Holdings Pte Ltd and each of its subsidiaries and controlled entities, including Integrated Security Solutions, Logistics and Procurement, Infrastructure and Engineering, and Corporate Support Services.
Complainant	A person who makes a report under this Policy, whether or not they are the person harmed.
Consent	Free, voluntary, informed and clearly communicated agreement, given by a person with the capacity to give it, and capable of being withdrawn at any time. Silence, submission, fear, intoxication, incapacity, economic dependency, employment authority, custodial control or the absence of physical resistance do not constitute consent.
Deployed Person	Any person covered by Section 4.1 who is present in, or travelling to or from, the operational area on Company business.
Ethics and Compliance Officer	The officer appointed by the Managing Director to administer this Policy, receive reports, oversee investigations and maintain the case register.
Gross Misconduct	Conduct so serious that it destroys the relationship of trust and confidence and may justify summary dismissal, subject to applicable law and a fair process.
Operational Area	Any location in Papua New Guinea where the Company performs work or accommodates personnel, including project sites, camps, corridors, marine bases, transit routes and staging points, together with supporting locations in the Republic of Fiji.
Protective Removal	The precautionary withdrawal of a person from duty, from a site, or from the operational area under Section 17. It is a risk-control measure and is not a finding of guilt or a disciplinary penalty.
Reasonable Grounds	Facts or information that would cause a reasonable person, acting in good faith, to believe that a matter may have occurred. It is a lower threshold than proof.
Retaliation	Any detriment, threat, exclusion, demotion, transfer, hostile treatment, withdrawal of opportunity or informal punishment directed at a person because they reported, supported a report, or participated in an investigation.
SEAH	Sexual Exploitation, Abuse and Harassment.
Substantiated	A finding, on the balance of probabilities and having regard to the seriousness of the allegation, that the alleged conduct more likely than not occurred.

Term	Meaning
Survivor / Victim	A person who has experienced conduct prohibited by this Policy. "Survivor" is used where the person prefers that term; the Company follows the person's stated preference.
Vulnerable Person	A person who, by reason of age, disability, illness, injury, poverty, displacement, detention, dependency, isolation or any other circumstance, has a reduced ability to protect themselves from harm or exploitation.
Working Day	A day other than a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday in the relevant jurisdiction. Time limits in this Policy are expressed in calendar hours where safety is engaged, and in working days otherwise.

Interpretation. Headings are for convenience only. The singular includes the plural. References to a statute include any amendment or replacement of it. "Includes" and "including" are not words of limitation. A reference to a position includes the person lawfully acting in that position.

6. Legal and Regulatory Framework

The Company conducts business under the laws of Papua New Guinea and the Republic of Fiji, under the licensing regime applicable to the private security industry, and in accordance with the international standards expected of security and logistics providers on major resource projects. Personnel are not expected to be lawyers, but every person is expected to understand that the conduct prohibited by this Policy is, in most cases, also a criminal offence.

6.1 Papua New Guinea

Instrument	Relevance to this Policy
Constitution of the Independent State of Papua New Guinea	Fundamental rights and freedoms, including protection of the person, freedom from inhuman treatment and the right to privacy.
Criminal Code Act 1974 (Ch. 262), as amended, including the Criminal Code (Sexual Offences and Crimes Against Children) Act 2002	Homicide, assault, grievous bodily harm, kidnapping, rape and sexual offences, offences against children, theft, fraud, corruption and obstruction of justice.
Employment Act 1978 (Ch. 373)	Contracts of service, termination and termination without notice for serious misconduct, wages and deductions, and repatriation obligations for employees brought to the place of employment.
Employment of Non-Citizens Act 2007 and Migration Act 1978	Work permits, visas, and the conditions attaching to the presence of expatriate personnel.
Security (Protection) Industry Act 2004	Licensing of security providers and permitting of security officers and guards through the Security Industries Authority; the industry Code of Conduct, disciplinary points and the Board of Complaints. Conduct under this Policy directly affects the Company's licence and its personnel's permits.
Firearms Act 1978 (Ch. 310) and subordinate regulation	Possession, licensing, storage, carriage and use of firearms and ammunition.
Controlled Substances Act 2021	Offences relating to illicit drugs, controlled substances and the abuse of regulated substances.

Instrument	Relevance to this Policy
Lukautim Pikinini (Child Protection) Act 2015	Protection of children, mandatory child-protection obligations and reporting of suspected abuse.
Whistleblower Act 2020	Protection of persons who disclose improper conduct.
Organic Law on the Independent Commission Against Corruption and the Anti-Corruption legislative framework	Investigation of corrupt conduct involving public officials and those dealing with them.
Anti-Money Laundering and Counter Terrorist Financing Act 2015	Proceeds of crime, suspicious transactions and reporting obligations.
Occupational Health and Safety framework and Workers' Compensation Act	Duty to provide a safe place of work and to report injuries and dangerous occurrences.
Environment Act 2000	Pollution, discharge, waste and environmental harm.
Oil and Gas Act 1998 and project-specific agreements	Licence-area conduct, landowner engagement and project obligations along the Papua LNG corridor.

6.2 Republic of Fiji

- Employment Relations Act 2007 — contracts of service, disciplinary process, unfair and unlawful dismissal, and deductions from wages;
- Crimes Act 2009 — criminal offences, including offences capable of applying to conduct committed abroad by Fiji nationals in defined circumstances;
- the statutory framework governing the recruitment of workers for employment outside Fiji, including any authorisation required for overseas recruitment activity; and
- Fiji occupational health and safety, and data protection and privacy requirements applicable to employee records held in Fiji.

6.3 International and Client Standards

- the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights (VPSHR) — risk assessment, engagement with public and private security, and proportionate use of force;
- the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights — protect, respect and remedy;
- the International Code of Conduct for Private Security Service Providers (ICoC) and the Montreux Document, so far as applicable to private security operations;
- IFC Performance Standard 2 (Labour and Working Conditions) and Performance Standard 4 (Community Health, Safety and Security), including the obligation to use security personnel proportionately and to investigate allegations of unlawful or abusive acts;
- the Inter-Agency Standing Committee Six Core Principles on Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse (PSEA);
- ILO core labour standards concerning forced labour, child labour, discrimination and freedom of association; and
- the specific conduct, safeguarding, security and human-rights requirements imposed by clients, operators and joint-venture partners under contract.

Where a client standard, joint-venture requirement or international standard is stricter than this Policy, the stricter standard applies to personnel working under that contract.

7. Guiding Principles

Implementation of this Policy shall be guided by the following principles.

7.1 Zero Tolerance

The Company shall not excuse, conceal, minimise, trade away or knowingly tolerate serious misconduct or criminal behaviour, and shall not permit commercial pressure, operational urgency, personnel shortages or client relationships to influence that position.

7.2 Safety First

Any person reasonably suspected of presenting an immediate safety, security or welfare risk may be removed from duty and from the operational area pending investigation. Where there is doubt, the Company acts to protect people first and resolves the doubt afterwards.

7.3 Survivor-Centred Response

The safety, health, dignity, wishes and confidentiality of the person harmed shall be the primary consideration in every decision taken in response to an allegation of violence, sexual exploitation, abuse or harassment, so far as is consistent with law and the safety of others.

7.4 Respect for Papua New Guinea

All personnel shall respect the laws, Constitution, customs, traditional leadership, landowners, women, children, elders, churches and communities of Papua New Guinea. Personnel are guests in the operational area and shall behave accordingly.

7.5 Accountability Without Exception

Position, rank, profession, nationality, gender, friendship, family connection, shareholding, technical indispensability or length of service shall not protect any individual from investigation or disciplinary action. Senior personnel are held to a higher standard, not a lower one.

7.6 Confidentiality and Protection

Reports shall be managed discreetly and on a strict need-to-know basis. Survivors, witnesses and whistleblowers shall be protected against retaliation, and retaliation is itself a Category A offence.

7.7 Procedural Fairness

Allegations shall be documented and assessed promptly. The person accused shall ordinarily be informed of the substance of the allegation and given a reasonable opportunity to respond before a disciplinary decision is made, except where the police or another competent authority direct otherwise, or where doing so would create a risk to a person or to evidence.

7.8 Proportionality and Consistency

Penalties shall be proportionate to the seriousness of the conduct and consistent with penalties imposed in comparable cases. The Ethics and Compliance Officer shall maintain a decisions register to support consistency.

7.9 Cooperation with Authorities

Suspected criminal offences shall be reported to the Royal Papua New Guinea Constabulary or another competent authority where required by law, or where necessary to protect individuals and operations. The Company shall not obstruct, delay or substitute itself for a lawful investigation.

7.10 Prevention and Learning

Every substantiated case shall be examined for root cause, and corrective actions shall be tracked to completion. The Company treats prevention — through recruitment screening, training, supervision, camp management and community engagement — as more important than punishment.

Part II — Standards of Conduct

8. Classification of Offences

Prohibited conduct is classified in three categories. Classification determines the speed of the Company's response, the level of authority required to decide the matter, and the range of available penalties.

Category	Nature of conduct	Immediate response	Deciding authority
Category A Zero Tolerance	Criminal conduct, or conduct creating serious risk to life, safety, dignity, security or the Company's licence (Section 9).	Protective removal; referral to authorities where required; investigation commenced within 24 hours.	Managing Director, on the recommendation of the Ethics and Compliance Officer.
Category B Serious Misconduct	Material breach of Company standards falling short of criminality (Section 10).	Risk assessment; suspension or reassignment where warranted; investigation commenced within 3 working days.	Subsidiary General Manager or Project Manager, with Human Resources.
Category C Minor Misconduct	Lapses in discipline, standards or procedure (Section 11).	Supervisory counselling and record; formal process only if repeated.	Immediate supervisor, with Human Resources oversight.

Escalation. Category C conduct that is repeated after warning, and Category B conduct that is aggravated, repeated or concealed, may be dealt with as the next category up. Any conduct — of whatever category — that is accompanied by dishonesty, concealment, obstruction or retaliation is automatically escalated to Category A.

Attempts, assistance and concealment. It is an offence of the same category to attempt prohibited conduct, to procure, order, encourage, assist or fund another person to engage in it, or to knowingly conceal it after the fact.

9. Category A: Zero-Tolerance Offences

The following constitute Category A offences. A credible allegation of a Category A offence may result in immediate protective removal from the operational area, precautionary suspension, investigation, termination of employment, repatriation, permanent exclusion from future deployment, recovery action, notification to licensing and immigration authorities, and referral to law-enforcement authorities.

9.1 Illegal Drugs and Controlled Substances

Personnel shall not:

- possess, consume, cultivate, manufacture or distribute illegal drugs;
- purchase, sell, supply, broker or transport controlled substances;
- smuggle drugs, precursor chemicals, drug paraphernalia or drug-related materials;
- permit Company property, vehicles, vessels, aircraft, containers, accommodation or facilities to be used for drug-related activity;
- report for duty while affected by illegal drugs;
- refuse a lawfully and properly authorised drug test without reasonable justification;

- tamper with, substitute, dilute or otherwise interfere with a testing sample, chain of custody or result;
- introduce, share or sell prescription medication belonging to another person; or
- associate with, shelter, finance or provide information to a drug-trafficking operation.

The Controlled Substances Act 2021 establishes offences in Papua New Guinea relating to illicit drugs, controlled substances and the abuse of regulated substances. Personnel are additionally reminded that penalties for drug offences in transit countries can be severe.

9.2 Kava, Alcohol and Intoxicating Substances

To maintain operational readiness, discipline and safety:

- possession or consumption of kava is prohibited in operational areas, project sites, Company camps, accommodation facilities, vehicles and vessels, and during deployment;
- unauthorised possession, brewing, sale or consumption of alcohol or home-brewed liquor is prohibited;
- no person shall report for work, or be on call, while impaired by alcohol, kava, medication or any other intoxicating substance;
- no person shall consume alcohol within eight (8) hours of a rostered shift, and no person shall consume alcohol at any time while carrying a firearm, driving, operating machinery or on standby for emergency response;
- alcohol-related violence, disorderly behaviour, indecency or unsafe conduct is a Category A offence;
- supplying alcohol or kava to a person under the legal drinking age, to a community member in exchange for any benefit, or to a person on duty, is a Category A offence; and
- misuse, hoarding, sharing or trading of prescription medication is prohibited.

The Managing Director may designate limited authorised areas or official occasions for alcohol consumption, subject to written controls covering location, quantity, supervision and duty status. No such exception shall apply to kava within declared high-risk operational areas unless expressly authorised in writing by the Managing Director.

Where a person voluntarily discloses a dependency before any incident, test or allegation, the Company shall consider a confidential, supported rehabilitation pathway in preference to disciplinary action, subject to safety-critical role restrictions. This provision does not apply once conduct has occurred, a test has been called or an allegation has been made.

9.3 Drug, Goods and Weapons Smuggling

Personnel shall not:

- import, export, conceal, carry, store, trade or transport illegal drugs;
- import, export, conceal, carry, store or trade unauthorised firearms, ammunition, explosives, body armour, restricted communications equipment or prohibited weapons;
- traffic in fuel, wildlife, protected timber, cultural artefacts, gold, pharmaceuticals or other controlled goods;
- use Company vehicles, vessels, aircraft, cargo, containers, seals or documentation for smuggling or concealment;
- assist another person to evade customs, quarantine, police, immigration or security controls;
- falsify cargo manifests, weighbridge records, waybills, seals or transport records; or
- knowingly fail to report a suspected smuggling operation.

9.4 Unauthorised Weapons

No person shall possess, carry, discharge, transfer, modify or store a firearm, ammunition, explosive device, or other dangerous weapon unless all of the following conditions are met:

- the possession is lawful and licensed under Papua New Guinea law;
- it is required for an approved Company role and authorised in writing by the Security Operations Manager;
- the person holds the required permit, current competency certification and medical clearance;
- the item is recorded in the Company weapons register and subject to daily accounting; and
- it is carried, stored and used strictly in accordance with applicable law, the client's requirements and Company procedures.

The reckless, threatening, celebratory, intoxicated or unauthorised use of any weapon is strictly prohibited, as is the carriage of unauthorised personal weapons including knives beyond issued tools, batons, chemical agents and improvised weapons. Loss, theft or unaccounted discharge of any weapon or round of ammunition shall be reported immediately and in every case within one (1) hour of discovery.

9.5 Murder, Attempted Murder and Serious Violence

The Company prohibits:

- murder or attempted murder;
- manslaughter and other unlawful killing;
- assault, and assault causing injury;
- grievous bodily harm;
- fighting, brawling and affray;
- torture, cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment;
- kidnapping, abduction, hostage-taking or unlawful detention;
- threatening another person with death or serious harm;
- mob violence and participation in group attacks;
- revenge, payback or reprisal attacks;
- violent intimidation, including the display of a weapon to coerce; and
- ordering, encouraging, financing, filming or assisting another person to commit violence.

Self-defence and the defence of others remain lawful within the limits set by law and by Section 12 of this Policy. Any use of force shall be reported without delay.

9.6 Rape, Attempted Rape and Sexual Assault

The following are strictly prohibited:

- rape and attempted rape;
- sexual assault and indecent assault;
- sexual abuse;
- unwanted sexual touching;
- forcing, pressuring, deceiving or inducing another person to engage in sexual activity;
- sexual activity obtained through threats, intimidation, authority, custody, isolation or economic pressure;
- sexual activity with a person unable to give informed consent;
- sexual activity with a person impaired by drugs or alcohol;

- group or gang-related sexual violence;
- recording, photographing or distributing a sexual act or intimate image without consent; and
- concealing, facilitating or failing to report a known or suspected sexual assault.

Consent must be freely, voluntarily, knowingly and clearly given, and may be withdrawn at any time. Silence, fear, sleep, unconsciousness, intoxication, dependency, employment authority, custodial control, or the absence of physical resistance shall never be treated as consent. A person's dress, presence in accommodation, previous relationship, occupation or acceptance of food, transport, money or gifts shall never be treated as consent.

9.7 Sexual Exploitation and Abuse

Personnel shall not:

- exchange or offer money, employment, transport, food, fuel, accommodation, protection, contracts, gifts, medical assistance or favours for sexual activity;
- exploit poverty, hunger, displacement, vulnerability or community dependency for sexual purposes;
- engage in transactional or commercial sexual activity of any kind while deployed, whether or not it is lawful in the location concerned;
- solicit, procure or facilitate prostitution or sexual trafficking;
- use Company accommodation, vehicles, vessels or facilities for sexual exploitation;
- produce, possess, download, share or distribute exploitative or non-consensual sexual material;
- engage in sexual harassment; or
- use position, rank, uniform, access or authority to obtain sexual access to another person.

This prohibition applies regardless of the age of the other person, regardless of local practice, and regardless of whether the other adult appears willing. The imbalance of power between deployed personnel and members of a host community means such conduct can never be treated as a private matter between equals.

9.8 Children and Vulnerable Persons

There shall be absolute zero tolerance for:

- any sexual activity with a child, or with a person under the legal age of consent;
- child sexual abuse or exploitation in any form;
- grooming, including the building of trust, gift-giving or private contact for the purpose of later abuse;
- child prostitution and the payment of any benefit to a child or the child's family in connection with sexual activity;
- child sexual abuse material, child pornography or exploitative images;
- trafficking, sale or unlawful transfer of children;
- providing drugs, alcohol, kava, tobacco or betel nut to a child;
- physical punishment, humiliation or degrading treatment of a child;
- inappropriate private communication with a child, including social media, messaging and telephone contact not authorised by the Company and known to the child's parent or guardian;
- transporting a child in a Company vehicle or vessel without lawful authority and a documented operational reason;
- being alone with a child in accommodation, a vehicle or an unobserved location, other than in a genuine emergency; and

- concealing, failing to report or discouraging the reporting of suspected abuse of a child.

A mistaken belief concerning a child's age shall not be accepted as a defence under this Policy. Where age is uncertain, personnel shall assume the person is a child. The same protections extend to vulnerable persons as defined in Section 5.

Suspected child abuse — whether committed by Company personnel, a client, a contractor, a community member or a family member — shall be reported immediately to the designated Safeguarding Officer and, where required by law, to the appropriate child-protection or police authority.

9.9 Prohibited Workplace and Community Relationships

Personnel shall not engage in:

- sexual activity during working hours or while on operational duty;
- sexual activity in Company workplaces, vehicles, guard posts, vessels, control rooms or operational facilities;
- relationships involving coercion, harassment, favouritism, exploitation or abuse of authority;
- sexual or romantic relationships between a supervisor and an employee under their direct or indirect control, or between a person and anyone whose recruitment, pay, roster, discipline, contract or promotion they influence;
- sexual or romantic relationships with local community members where there is a power imbalance, security dependency, contractual relationship, landowner interest or risk of exploitation;
- relationships that compromise security, intelligence, procurement, recruitment or operational decisions;
- conduct that causes serious conflict, violence, family breakdown or reputational damage within the operational area; or
- retaliation, exclusion or adverse treatment directed at a person who declines or ends a sexual or romantic approach.

Because consensual relationships between adults may involve legal privacy considerations, the Company regulates such relationships according to safety, conflict-of-interest, operational and anti-exploitation requirements, rather than by an unsupported blanket prohibition.

Mandatory declaration. Any relationship that creates an actual, potential or perceived conflict of interest — including a close personal, family, financial or romantic relationship with a colleague, subordinate, contractor, client representative, community leader or landowner — must be declared confidentially to Human Resources or the Ethics and Compliance Officer using the form at Annex D, within seven (7) days of the relationship arising. The declaration itself is not misconduct; the failure to declare is. The Company shall respond by managing the conflict — ordinarily by adjusting reporting lines or duties — and shall keep the declaration confidential so far as reasonably possible.

9.10 Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment is any unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature that a reasonable person would anticipate might cause offence, humiliation or intimidation. It includes:

- unwanted sexual comments, jokes, gestures or noises;
- repeated romantic or sexual approaches after refusal or disinterest;
- displaying or circulating sexual images, screensavers or material;
- sexually suggestive messages, calls or social media contact;
- requesting or implying a need for sexual favours;
- comments about another person's body, appearance, dress or private life;

- unwanted touching, brushing, blocking or invasion of personal space;
- following, watching, waiting for or otherwise stalking a person;
- sharing, threatening to share, or soliciting intimate images without consent;
- threatening employment, roster, pay or contractual consequences for rejecting an approach; and
- promising benefits, promotion, leave or favourable treatment in exchange for sexual cooperation.

Conduct may amount to sexual harassment whether or not it was intended to cause offence, and whether or not the person objected at the time.

9.11 Corruption, Bribery and Improper Payments

Personnel shall not:

- offer, promise, request, give, authorise or accept a bribe, whether directly or through a third party;
- make a facilitation or "grease" payment; such payments are prohibited without exception, save where a payment is extorted under immediate threat to personal safety, in which case the person shall comply to preserve life and report the payment to the Ethics and Compliance Officer within twenty-four (24) hours;
- provide or receive secret commissions, kickbacks or undisclosed benefits;
- manipulate tenders, quotations, evaluations, contracts or variations;
- misuse community, landowner, royalty or benefit-sharing funds;
- offer improper benefits, employment or contracts to government officials, police, defence personnel, regulators or their relatives;
- accept gifts, hospitality, travel, loans or entertainment intended, or reasonably capable of being seen, to influence a decision;
- engage or pay an agent, consultant or intermediary without documented due diligence and written contract;
- falsify invoices, receipts, payroll records, timesheets or expense claims;
- maintain undisclosed accounts, funds or "off-book" arrangements;
- divert Company resources, fuel, materials or labour for personal or political benefit;
- make political donations in the name of the Company;
- interfere with an audit, investigation or regulator; or
- conceal corrupt activity by any person.

Gifts and hospitality. Modest, occasional and transparent hospitality of customary courtesy value may be accepted only where it could not reasonably influence a decision, is not cash or a cash equivalent, is not solicited, and is recorded in the Gifts and Hospitality Register. Any gift offered during a tender, negotiation, investigation, inspection or licensing process shall be declined and reported. Where refusal would cause serious cultural offence, the item shall be accepted on behalf of the Company, declared within five (5) working days, and dealt with as Company property.

9.12 Theft, Fraud and Dishonesty

The following are prohibited:

- theft of Company, employee, client, contractor or community property;
- stealing or misappropriating fuel, food, rations, equipment, weapons, ammunition, tools, medicine, cabling, scrap or supplies;
- payroll, ghost-worker and timesheet fraud;
- procurement fraud, split purchasing, bid rigging and fictitious suppliers;

- fraudulent expense, allowance, fuel or per-diem claims;
- identity, qualification, licence, certificate or document fraud, including false experience or forged competency records;
- misappropriation or unauthorised movement of funds;
- unauthorised use, hire or sale of Company property;
- deliberate deception of the Company, a client, an auditor or an authority;
- receiving, storing or trading stolen property; and
- assisting, financing or concealing theft or fraud.

Papua New Guinea employment legislation recognises fraud, dishonesty, serious misconduct and wilful disobedience among the grounds on which a contract of service may be terminated without notice.

9.13 Human Trafficking, Forced Labour and Modern Slavery

Personnel and contractors shall not participate in, benefit from or conceal:

- trafficking in persons;
- forced, bonded, indentured or compulsory labour;
- debt bondage, including recruitment-fee debt;
- the charging of recruitment fees to workers, which is prohibited in all circumstances;
- unlawful or deceptive recruitment, including misrepresentation of pay, role, location or conditions;
- withholding, confiscating or restricting access to passports, identity documents, bank cards or personal property;
- restricting a worker's freedom of movement outside legitimate site-security requirements;
- transporting persons for exploitation;
- forced prostitution;
- child labour or the employment of any person below the lawful minimum working age; or
- concealing suspected trafficking or forced labour anywhere in the Company's supply chain.

9.14 Harassment, Bullying and Discrimination

The Company prohibits:

- physical, verbal, sexual, psychological or online harassment;
- bullying, including sustained undermining, isolation, or unreasonable work demands used as punishment;
- hazing, initiation rituals and "welcome" abuse;
- racial, ethnic, tribal, provincial or national abuse;
- religious intolerance, coercion or ridicule;
- gender-based harassment and violence;
- discrimination on the basis of race, ethnicity, national origin, gender, religion, disability, health status, age, marital or family status, or trade union membership;
- threats and intimidation;
- humiliating, degrading or physical punishment, including collective punishment;
- malicious rumours and character attacks;
- repeated abusive, obscene or demeaning language; and
- retaliation against complainants, witnesses or those who support them.

Robust supervision, lawful instructions, performance management, safety enforcement and disciplinary action, carried out reasonably and respectfully, do not constitute bullying.

9.15 Community Abuse and Cultural Misconduct

Personnel shall not:

- disrespect traditional leaders, elders, women's groups, churches or landowners;
- enter restricted, customary or sacred land without permission;
- damage sacred, cultural, historical or burial sites;
- exploit local people, labour or resources;
- make unauthorised promises of employment, compensation, contracts or benefits to communities;
- become involved in tribal, clan, landowner, church or political disputes;
- take sides in, or provide transport, weapons, information or funds to any party in, a local conflict;
- use insulting, racist or culturally degrading language;
- unlawfully acquire land, resources or community property;
- interfere in local marriages, courtship or family disputes;
- carry out unauthorised enforcement, punishment or "policing" against community members;
- photograph or film community members, ceremonies or property without informed permission; or
- use Company authority, uniform or vehicles to intimidate local residents.

9.16 Security, Information and Confidentiality Breaches

The following are prohibited:

- espionage and the passing of information to hostile or criminal parties;
- unauthorised photography, filming, drone operation or recording of restricted facilities;
- disclosure of security plans, threat assessments, guard rosters, patrol routes, convoy timings, VIP movements or emergency plans;
- disclosure of client, government, landowner or Company confidential information;
- sharing employee, applicant or community personal information without authority;
- unauthorised access to, or sharing of credentials for, electronic systems, CCTV, access control or radio networks;
- cybercrime, including hacking, phishing, ransomware facilitation and unauthorised data extraction;
- installing unauthorised software or connecting unauthorised devices to Company systems;
- sabotage of equipment, systems or infrastructure;
- deliberate destruction, alteration or backdating of records;
- communication or association with criminal organisations or armed groups; and
- posting confidential, operational, security-sensitive or reputationally damaging content on social media, including images of sites, weapons, incidents, casualties, detainees or community members.

Confidentiality obligations continue after employment ends. Nothing in this Section prevents a person from making a protected disclosure to a regulator, the police or a competent authority.

9.17 Safety, Health and Environmental Offences

Personnel shall not:

- deliberately breach a critical safety procedure, permit-to-work system, isolation, or life-saving rule;
- work while intoxicated, fatigued beyond limits or medically unfit;

- disable, bypass, remove or defeat safety equipment, guards, alarms or interlocks;
- knowingly create a risk of death or serious injury to any person;
- misuse vehicles, vessels, aircraft, machinery, firearms or hazardous materials, including speeding, unauthorised driving and overloading;
- falsify safety inspection, maintenance, journey-management, fatigue or training records;
- conceal or delay reporting of an accident, near miss, injury or environmental incident;
- illegally discharge fuel, chemicals, sewage, oil or waste;
- hunt, trade, transport or harm protected wildlife;
- unlawfully cut timber, mine, fish or remove natural resources; or
- deliberately damage the environment or interfere with pollution controls.

The Company operates a just-culture approach: an honest, prompt report of one's own error is treated far more favourably than concealment. Concealment of a safety or environmental incident is a Category A offence in its own right.

9.18 Obstruction, False Reporting and Retaliation

It is a Category A offence to:

- destroy, alter, hide or fabricate evidence;
- threaten, bribe, pressure or "compensate" a complainant, survivor or witness to secure silence or withdrawal;
- coach witnesses to provide false or incomplete information;
- knowingly submit a malicious or fabricated allegation;
- interfere with, delay or prejudice an investigation;
- retaliate against a whistleblower, complainant, witness or investigator;
- refuse to cooperate with a lawful investigation without reasonable cause; or
- attempt to influence investigators, decision-makers, police or officials improperly.

A report that is honestly made but not ultimately substantiated is not a false allegation and shall never be treated as misconduct.

10. Category B: Serious Misconduct

The following conduct is serious but does not automatically require protective removal. It may result in a final written warning, demotion, removal from a role, cancellation of deployment, or termination where repeated, aggravated or combined with other breaches:

- repeated unauthorised absence, sleeping on post, or abandoning a post without relief;
- insubordination or refusal to follow a lawful and reasonable instruction;
- negligent loss or damage to Company, client or community property;
- careless breach of a safety or security procedure not creating a risk of death or serious injury;
- failure to report an incident, hazard or near miss within the required time;
- unauthorised use of Company vehicles, fuel, communications or equipment for personal purposes;
- breach of camp, accommodation or mess rules, including unauthorised guests;
- gambling for money on Company premises, and lending money at interest to colleagues or community members;
- unprofessional conduct toward clients, visitors, colleagues or community members;
- failure by a supervisor to act on a report, or to supervise adequately;

- failure to declare a conflict of interest, gift or relationship within the required time;
- inaccurate or careless record-keeping falling short of falsification; and
- social media conduct that damages the Company's standing without disclosing confidential information.

11. Category C: Minor Misconduct

The following are ordinarily addressed by supervisory counselling, a documented verbal caution, or a first written warning, and become serious if repeated:

- lateness, poor timekeeping and unexplained short absence;
- breaches of uniform, grooming, personal presentation or personal protective equipment standards;
- untidy or unhygienic accommodation, mess or work areas;
- minor discourtesy, coarse language or poor radio discipline;
- failure to complete routine paperwork, logs or handover notes;
- unauthorised personal mobile phone use on post; and
- minor procedural non-compliance not affecting safety or security.

12. Use of Force, Detention and Human Rights

The Company provides security services. The lawful, restrained and accountable use of force is therefore a defining test of the Company's integrity, and the misuse of force is treated as a Category A offence.

12.1 Principles

Any use of force shall comply with law, with the client's requirements, and with the Voluntary Principles on Security and Human Rights. Force shall be:

- lawful — permitted by the law of Papua New Guinea and used only for a lawful purpose;
- necessary — used only where no lesser means will achieve the lawful purpose;
- proportionate — the minimum degree and duration required, having regard to the threat;
- accountable — reported, recorded, reviewed and, where appropriate, referred; and
- non-discriminatory — never influenced by ethnicity, gender, clan, religion or status.

12.2 Prohibitions

- force shall never be used as punishment, retaliation, discipline or to extract information or a confession;
- firearms shall not be used except where strictly necessary to protect life against an imminent threat of death or serious injury;
- no person shall fire warning shots except where expressly permitted by law, client rules and written Company procedure;
- no person shall detain any individual except as expressly permitted by law; where a person is detained pending police arrival, they shall be treated humanely, kept for the shortest possible time, not questioned coercively, given water and shelter, and handed to the police as soon as practicable;
- searches shall be conducted lawfully, with dignity, and searches of women shall be conducted by trained female personnel; and
- no person shall subject any individual to inhuman or degrading treatment in any circumstance, including during protest, unrest or blockade.

12.3 Reporting of Force

Every use of force, every drawing or pointing of a firearm, every discharge of a firearm whether intentional or accidental, every use of restraints, and every detention shall be reported to the Security Operations Manager immediately and in writing within twelve (12) hours, and shall be entered in the Use of Force Register. Allegations of unlawful or abusive use of force by Company personnel, or by public security forces engaged in support of Company operations, shall be recorded, investigated and, where required, referred to the authorities and reported to the client.

Part III — Reporting and Immediate Response

13. Mandatory Duty to Report

Every person covered by this Policy has a personal, non-delegable duty to report, without delay:

- suspected serious criminal conduct;
- sexual exploitation, abuse or harassment;
- any concern about the safety or treatment of a child;
- illegal drugs, unauthorised weapons, ammunition or explosives;
- theft or loss of weapons, ammunition or controlled equipment;
- bribery, corruption or improper payment;
- trafficking in persons or forced labour;
- serious threats, violence or intimidation;
- major safety, security or environmental breaches;
- any use of force causing injury; and
- any attempt to conceal a Category A offence.

The duty applies whether the suspected offender is a subordinate, a peer, a supervisor, a director, a client representative, a contractor or a public official. Knowingly concealing a serious offence is itself misconduct and may be treated as a Category A offence.

Reports must be made honestly and in good faith. A person shall not be disciplined merely because an allegation is ultimately unsubstantiated, provided the report was made honestly. A person who reports their own involvement in misconduct before it is discovered will have that self-disclosure taken into account in mitigation, though it does not by itself prevent disciplinary or criminal consequences.

14. Reporting Channels

A person may report a concern through any of the following channels. No person is required to report to their own supervisor, and no person is required to exhaust one channel before using another:

- their immediate supervisor or shift commander;
- the Human Resources Manager;
- the Ethics and Compliance Officer;
- the designated Safeguarding Officer (for any concern involving a child or sexual exploitation and abuse);
- the Project Manager or Subsidiary General Manager;
- the Security Operations Manager;
- the Managing Director;
- the confidential reporting telephone number, SMS line or email address published at Annex F;
- a locked, unmonitored suggestion and complaint box at each camp, cleared weekly by the Ethics and Compliance Officer;
- the client's grievance or ethics line, where one is available under contract;
- the community grievance mechanism, for community members and landowners; or
- the police, emergency services or another competent authority, where immediate danger exists or where the person prefers.

Anonymous reports are accepted and will be assessed on their merits. Anonymity may limit the Company's ability to investigate, and reporters are encouraged, where safe, to provide a means of confidential contact.

Emergency reports involving danger to life shall be made immediately by the fastest available means — radio, telephone or in person — and confirmed in writing afterwards.

14.1 Acknowledgement and Response Times

Report type	Acknowledge within	Initial risk assessment within
Immediate danger to life or safety	Immediately	Immediately, then documented within 6 hours
Category A — child safeguarding or sexual violence	4 hours	12 hours
Category A — all other	24 hours	24 hours
Category B	2 working days	3 working days
Category C	5 working days	Not applicable

15. Whistleblower Protection and Non-Retaliation

The Company shall protect any person who, in good faith, reports a concern, supports a complainant, gives evidence or participates in an investigation. Specifically, the Company shall:

- keep the identity of the reporter confidential so far as is lawful and practicable, and disclose it only where required by law, or where necessary to investigate and then only with the reporter's knowledge;
- prohibit and treat as a Category A offence any retaliation, including dismissal, demotion, roster manipulation, transfer, exclusion, withdrawal of overtime or allowances, hostile treatment, threats or "quiet" punishment;
- monitor the working conditions, roster, appraisal and treatment of a reporter for a period of at least six (6) months following a report, and record that monitoring;
- take separate disciplinary action against any person who retaliates, independent of the outcome of the original allegation; and
- inform the reporter of the outcome of their report in general terms, so far as confidentiality and law allow.

Protection under this Section applies even where the report is not substantiated, provided it was made honestly. It does not protect a person from the consequences of their own participation in the misconduct reported, although self-disclosure will be taken into account.

16. Immediate Protective Removal

Where a Category A offence is alleged and there are reasonable grounds to believe that the individual may present a risk to safety, security, welfare, evidence or reputation, the Company may:

1. immediately stand the individual down from active duty;
2. confiscate Company-issued weapons, ammunition, equipment, keys, identification and access credentials, and revoke system access;

3. restrict the individual's access to employees, survivors, witnesses, systems, records and operational facilities;
4. transfer the individual to a secure administrative location or separate accommodation;
5. arrange a medical or psychological assessment where appropriate;
6. place the individual on precautionary suspension on full pay, unless the applicable contract and law provide otherwise;
7. notify the client, joint-venture partner, licensing authority or other relevant body where required by contract or law; and
8. remove the individual from the operational site, where practicable, within twenty-four (24) hours.

Protective removal is a precautionary safety measure. It does not by itself constitute a finding of guilt, shall not be described or recorded as a penalty, and shall be explained to the individual in writing within twenty-four (24) hours, stating the general nature of the allegation, the fact that no finding has been made, the expected timeframe, the individual's obligations during the period, and the support available to them.

Where the police require the individual to remain in Papua New Guinea for investigation, court proceedings or immigration action, the Company shall comply with lawful directions and shall not obstruct justice by attempting immediate repatriation.

The Company shall equally consider protective measures for the person harmed — including relocation, roster change, escorted movement, medical care and leave — and shall not place the burden of separation on the survivor where it can reasonably be placed on the alleged offender.

17. Reporting Criminal Conduct to Authorities

The Company shall promptly refer credible allegations involving the following to the Royal Papua New Guinea Constabulary or another appropriate authority:

- murder, attempted murder or unlawful killing;
- rape, attempted rape or sexual assault;
- child abuse or exploitation;
- trafficking in persons and forced labour;
- illegal drugs and controlled substances;
- firearms, ammunition or explosives offences;
- smuggling and customs offences;
- serious assault and grievous bodily harm;
- kidnapping and unlawful detention;
- major theft, fraud or money laundering;
- corruption involving public officials;
- organised criminal activity; and
- any other matter for which reporting is legally required.

The Company's disciplinary process shall not replace, delay or interfere with a criminal investigation. An individual may face both a criminal investigation or prosecution and separate Company disciplinary action arising from the same conduct, and the Company is not required to await the outcome of criminal proceedings before deciding an employment matter, provided its own process is fair and separately evidenced.

Where the person harmed is an adult and does not wish the matter referred to police, the Company shall respect that wish so far as the law allows, shall record the decision, and shall nonetheless take internal action to protect others. Where the person harmed is a child, or where there is a continuing risk to others, referral shall proceed regardless.

Notification to clients, joint-venture partners, licensing authorities and insurers shall be made by the Managing Director or the Ethics and Compliance Officer only, in accordance with contractual requirements. No other person shall communicate with authorities, clients, media or the public about a case.

18. Victim, Survivor and Witness Support

The Company shall:

- prioritise the immediate safety of the person harmed;
- arrange urgent medical assistance, including access to post-rape care within the clinically effective window where relevant, without requiring a police report first;
- preserve confidentiality so far as is reasonably possible, and limit knowledge of the case to those who need it;
- provide access to counselling, chaplaincy or psychosocial support, and to independent support services where available;
- ensure the person is not blamed, questioned about irrelevant personal history, humiliated or asked to repeat their account unnecessarily;
- separate the alleged offender from the person harmed, without disadvantaging the latter;
- protect witnesses against retaliation and monitor their treatment;
- preserve physical, documentary and electronic evidence;
- inform the person harmed of their right to report to police, and support them to do so if they wish;
- provide interpretation and, where relevant, gender-appropriate interviewers; and
- cooperate fully with lawful investigations.

No person shall pressure a survivor to withdraw a complaint, accept compensation, participate in an informal settlement, or remain silent. Serious criminal matters shall not be resolved solely through customary compensation, private settlement, "haus krai" arrangements or internal mediation where referral to the authorities is required. Mediation shall never be used in cases of sexual violence, child abuse or violence.

Community complainants shall have access to the same protections through the community grievance mechanism, and shall not be required to enter a Company facility in order to make a report.

Part IV — Investigation, Discipline and Consequences

19. Drug, Alcohol and Kava Testing

Subject to applicable law, contract and approved Company procedures, testing may be undertaken:

Testing trigger	Application
Pre-employment / pre-deployment	All personnel, before first mobilisation.
Random	Safety-sensitive and security-sensitive positions, selected by an objective and documented random method.
For cause / reasonable suspicion	Where documented observation by two trained persons, or credible information, gives reasonable grounds to suspect impairment.
Post-incident	Following any accident, dangerous occurrence, use of force, firearm discharge or serious incident.
Post-discovery	Following discovery of drugs, alcohol, kava or related materials in a controlled area.
Return to work	As part of an authorised rehabilitation, treatment or return-to-work arrangement.

Testing shall be conducted respectfully, privately, confidentially and using reliable procedures with a documented chain of custody. A non-negative screening result shall be confirmed by a recognised laboratory method before any disciplinary decision is made, and the individual shall be stood down from safety-sensitive duty pending confirmation.

A confirmed positive test for an illegal drug, tampering with a sample, or an unjustified refusal to participate may constitute serious misconduct and shall be treated as a Category A matter.

Lawfully prescribed medication shall be managed confidentially. Personnel must disclose to the designated medical officer any medication that may impair safe performance, and the medical officer shall advise the employer only of fitness for duty and any restriction required — not of the underlying medical condition or the medication itself.

20. Investigation Procedure

An investigation shall ordinarily include the following steps:

1. recording the allegation in the confidential case register, with a unique case reference;
2. conducting an immediate risk assessment covering the person harmed, witnesses, the accused, the workforce, the community and operations;
3. taking protective measures, including protective removal where warranted;
4. preserving physical, documentary, digital and CCTV evidence, and issuing a hold on deletion of records;
5. appointing an impartial investigator with no personal, reporting or commercial interest in the outcome, and with appropriate training — investigations involving sexual violence or children shall be conducted by, or with, a trained and, where appropriate, gender-matched specialist;
6. notifying the police or other authority where required, and coordinating so that the internal process does not prejudice the criminal process;

7. informing the accused person, in writing, of the substance of the allegation, unless legally restricted or unless doing so would create risk;
8. providing a reasonable opportunity to respond, with adequate time, access to relevant material, interpretation where needed, and the right to be accompanied by a colleague or support person;
9. interviewing the person harmed and relevant witnesses, separately and on the record;
10. reviewing documents, electronic records, registers and physical evidence;
11. assessing credibility, corroboration and inconsistency objectively, and recording the reasoning;
12. documenting findings of fact, the conclusion on each allegation, and the evidence relied upon;
13. determining whether each allegation is substantiated, not substantiated, or unable to be determined; and
14. issuing a written decision to the accused, and communicating the outcome in appropriate terms to the person who reported.

20.1 Standard of Proof

The Company applies the civil standard — the balance of probabilities — having regard to the seriousness of the allegation and the gravity of the consequences. The Company does not apply the criminal standard, and the absence of a criminal conviction, a decision by police not to charge, or the withdrawal of a criminal complaint does not prevent the Company from making its own finding on the evidence available to it.

20.2 Timeframes

Stage	Category A	Category B
Commence investigation	Within 24 hours	Within 3 working days
Complete investigation (target)	14 calendar days	21 calendar days
Maximum, with written extension approved by the Managing Director	30 calendar days	45 calendar days
Issue written decision after completion	5 working days	5 working days
Review of decision, once requested	10 working days	10 working days

Where an individual has been removed from duty, the investigation shall be treated as urgent and progressed daily. Any extension shall be recorded with reasons and communicated to the individual and to the person who reported.

20.3 Conduct of the Investigation

Investigations shall be documented, impartial and confidential. Investigators shall not make promises of confidentiality they cannot keep, shall not offer inducements, shall not interview a child without a trained specialist and appropriate consent, and shall not record interviews covertly. Legal privilege shall be preserved where the Company has instructed counsel.

21. Disciplinary Consequences

Where an allegation is substantiated, the disciplinary consequences may include:

- a final written warning, in exceptional cases;
- removal from a particular position, post or client contract;
- demotion or withdrawal of supervisory authority;

- cancellation of operational deployment;
- immediate removal from the project area;
- summary dismissal where permitted by law;
- termination of employment on notice;
- repatriation to the Republic of Fiji or to the point of recruitment;
- permanent exclusion from future Company employment or deployment, recorded on the exclusion register;
- recovery of Company property and accountable advances;
- civil recovery action for proven losses or damage;
- notification to licensing, permitting, immigration or professional authorities, including the Security Industries Authority where a permit or licence is affected; and
- referral to the police or another government authority.

21.1 Indicative Disciplinary Matrix

Conduct	First substantiated instance	Aggravated, repeated or concealed
Category A — violence, sexual offences, offences against children, trafficking	Summary dismissal, repatriation, permanent exclusion, referral to police	As for first instance; additional referral to licensing and immigration authorities
Category A — drugs, weapons, smuggling	Summary dismissal, repatriation, permanent exclusion, referral to police	As for first instance
Category A — corruption, fraud, theft	Summary dismissal, recovery action, referral to police	As for first instance; civil proceedings
Category A — kava or alcohol breach without harm	Final written warning to dismissal, depending on role and risk	Dismissal
Category A — concealment, obstruction, retaliation	Dismissal	Dismissal and referral where criminal
Category B	Written warning to final written warning; removal from role where warranted	Final written warning to dismissal
Category C	Counselling or verbal caution, recorded	Written warning; further repetition treated as Category B

This matrix is indicative and does not remove the requirement to consider each case on its facts.

21.2 Aggravating and Mitigating Factors

In determining the penalty, the decision-maker shall take into account:

Aggravating	Mitigating
Risk or actual harm to life, safety or security	Prompt, honest self-disclosure before discovery
Harm to a child or vulnerable person	Genuine remorse and cooperation with the investigation
Abuse of position, rank, uniform or authority	Long unblemished service record

Aggravating	Mitigating
Planning, repetition or persistence	Isolated lapse under exceptional pressure
Concealment, obstruction, dishonesty during the process	Voluntary restitution of loss
Group or organised conduct	Provocation or duress falling short of a defence
Harm to community relations or to the Company's licence	Inadequate training, supervision or procedure contributed to the breach
Previous warnings for related conduct	Voluntary disclosure of dependency before any incident or test

22. Twenty-Four-Hour Removal and Repatriation

22.1 Removal from the Operational Area

A person credibly suspected of a Category A offence may be removed from the immediate operational area within twenty-four (24) hours where reasonably practicable, having regard to flight availability, weather, sea state, road security and any lawful direction of the authorities.

22.2 Repatriation

Where serious misconduct is substantiated and termination is approved, a Fiji-based employee may be repatriated to the Republic of Fiji at the earliest lawful and operationally practicable opportunity. Repatriation shall be arranged safely and with due regard to the person's dignity, welfare, personal property and immigration status.

Repatriation may be delayed where:

- the police, courts or a competent authority require the individual to remain in Papua New Guinea;
- immigration authorities impose restrictions or require formalities;
- urgent medical treatment is required;
- weather, transport or security conditions prevent safe movement; or
- repatriation would compromise an investigation.

22.3 Costs and Entitlements

Where permitted by the applicable law and the employment contract, the Company may seek recovery of avoidable repatriation costs caused by proven serious misconduct. No deduction shall be made unlawfully from accrued wages or statutory entitlements, and any deduction shall be authorised, itemised and notified in writing. The Company shall observe any statutory obligation to repatriate an employee brought to the place of employment, and shall not use repatriation cost recovery as a means of coercion.

23. Salary, Benefits and Entitlements on Termination

Where a person is lawfully dismissed for substantiated gross misconduct:

- future salary shall cease from the effective date of termination;
- deployment allowances and benefits connected with active service shall cease from the effective date of termination;

- access to Company accommodation, transport, systems, credentials and property shall end as directed;
- unearned discretionary benefits, bonuses and incentives may be cancelled; and
- Company property and accountable advances shall be returned in full.

The Company shall nevertheless calculate and pay any salary, leave, reimbursement or statutory entitlement already lawfully earned, subject to lawful and authorised deductions. A final statement of account shall be issued in writing.

The phrase "all salaries and benefits shall be forfeited" shall not be used, and shall not be relied upon, to remove rights that cannot lawfully be waived or withheld under the law of Papua New Guinea or the Republic of Fiji.

24. Review and Appeal

Because Category A offences involve serious and immediate risk, there is no unrestricted operational appeal that delays protective removal. However, to protect the Company's legal position, to guard against mistaken decisions and to ensure fairness:

- an individual may request one (1) executive review of the disciplinary decision;
- the request must ordinarily be submitted in writing within forty-eight (48) hours of receiving the written decision, or within a longer period where the individual is in transit, in custody or receiving medical treatment;
- the review shall be limited to significant procedural error, mistaken identity, new material evidence not reasonably available earlier, disproportionate penalty, or a finding no reasonable decision-maker could have reached;
- the review shall not automatically delay removal from the operational area;
- the reviewer shall be a senior person who was not involved in the original decision or investigation;
- the reviewer may confirm, vary, substitute or set aside the decision, or remit the matter for further investigation;
- the outcome shall be issued in writing with reasons within ten (10) working days of the request; and
- the review outcome shall be final within the Company.

This limited internal review does not restrict, and shall not be construed as excluding, any statutory right of complaint, mediation, arbitration or legal action that cannot lawfully be excluded in Papua New Guinea or the Republic of Fiji.

Part V — Governance, Implementation and Assurance

25. Responsibilities

25.1 The Board of Directors

The Board shall approve this Policy, receive at least an annual report on ethics and conduct performance, satisfy itself that serious cases are being handled properly and without favour, and ensure that management is resourced to comply.

25.2 Managing Director

- provide executive oversight and set the tone from the top;
- approve Category A disciplinary decisions;
- ensure adequate investigation, safeguarding and welfare resources;
- authorise notifications to clients and authorities;
- ensure cooperation with the police and regulators; and
- protect the Company from concealment, favouritism or improper interference.

25.3 Ethics and Compliance Officer

- act as custodian of this Policy and the confidential case register;
- receive and triage reports, and classify alleged conduct by category;
- appoint and support impartial investigators;
- maintain the Gifts and Hospitality, Conflict of Interest and Decisions registers;
- monitor consistency of penalties and the treatment of reporters;
- deliver and record training; and
- report quarterly to the Managing Director and annually to the Board.

25.4 Designated Safeguarding Officer

- lead the response to every concern involving a child, a vulnerable person, or sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment;
- ensure survivor-centred handling, medical referral and confidentiality;
- maintain contact with child-protection and support agencies; and
- advise on prevention measures in camps, transport and community programmes.

25.5 Directors, Subsidiary General Managers and Senior Managers

- lead by example and enforce this Policy consistently;
- ensure this Policy is implemented in each subsidiary and on each contract;
- report suspected violations and never handle a Category A matter informally;
- prevent retaliation and protect reporters;
- ensure no person receives preferential treatment; and
- include conduct and ethics in performance assessment of their managers.

25.6 Human Resources

- incorporate this Policy into all contracts and induction;
- conduct pre-employment screening, reference and criminal-record checks to the extent lawful, including for sexual exploitation and abuse history where a check is available;

- maintain signed acknowledgement records;
- coordinate disciplinary procedures and issue written notices and decisions;
- manage repatriation, final payments and exit formalities lawfully; and
- maintain confidential case and personnel records.

25.7 Security Management

- respond immediately to safety and security threats;
- secure weapons, ammunition and sensitive equipment;
- preserve incident scenes and CCTV;
- maintain the Use of Force and weapons registers;
- protect survivors and witnesses;
- maintain access controls and camp discipline; and
- cooperate with the police without exceeding lawful authority.

25.8 Supervisors and Shift Commanders

- brief their teams on standards before every deployment and rotation;
- observe for signs of impairment, fatigue, conflict or distress and act early;
- receive reports without judgement and escalate them the same day; and
- never attempt to investigate, mediate or "settle" a Category A matter themselves.

25.9 All Personnel

- comply with this Policy in letter and in spirit;
- behave respectfully toward colleagues, clients, landowners and communities;
- avoid prohibited conduct and avoid situations that create suspicion;
- report serious violations promptly;
- cooperate honestly with investigations;
- protect Company, client and community property; and
- intervene safely, or seek assistance immediately, when another person is at risk.

26. Contractual Incorporation

Every employment, contractor, consultancy and deployment agreement shall contain a clause confirming that:

1. the individual has received, read and understood this Policy;
2. compliance with this Policy is a condition of employment and deployment;
3. Category A conduct may constitute gross misconduct;
4. the individual may be immediately removed from duty and from the operational area on a precautionary basis;
5. substantiated gross misconduct may result in summary dismissal and repatriation;
6. deployment allowances and benefits may cease upon lawful termination;
7. criminal matters may be reported to Papua New Guinea or Fiji authorities;
8. the individual must cooperate with lawful investigations and preserve evidence;
9. the individual must comply with drug, alcohol and kava testing requirements where lawfully directed;

10. the individual consents to the lawful processing of personal data for the purposes of this Policy; and
11. the individual remains personally responsible for complying with the law of Papua New Guinea at all times.

27. Contractors, Subcontractors and the Supply Chain

The Company shall not permit through a contractor what it prohibits in an employee. Accordingly:

- every subcontract and supply agreement shall incorporate this Policy or an equivalent standard, in writing;
- contractors shall warrant that their personnel are screened, trained and licensed as required;
- contractors shall report Category A incidents to the Ethics and Compliance Officer within twenty-four (24) hours;
- the Company reserves the right to audit contractor compliance, to require the removal of any contractor personnel from Company or client sites, and to suspend or terminate for breach;
- recruitment fees shall not be charged to workers at any tier; and
- labour-hire and recruitment intermediaries shall be subject to documented due diligence before engagement.

28. Training, Induction and Awareness

Before deployment, every person shall complete mandatory training covering: Papua New Guinea laws and customs; this Zero-Tolerance Policy; drug, alcohol and kava restrictions; sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment; child safeguarding; anti-bribery and corruption; weapons, use of force and human rights; community and landowner relations; harassment and discrimination; reporting channels; whistleblower protection; and the disciplinary and repatriation consequences of breach.

Audience	Requirement	Frequency
All personnel	Policy induction and acknowledgement	Before first deployment; refresher annually and before each redeployment
Security personnel	Use of force, human rights, detention and search	Before deployment; refreshed every 12 months
Supervisors and managers	Receiving reports, preventing retaliation, managing conduct	Within 30 days of appointment; annually
Investigators and Safeguarding Officer	Specialist investigation, survivor-centred and child-safe interviewing	Before appointment; refreshed every 24 months
Drivers, logistics and marine crew	Smuggling, cargo integrity and community interaction	Annually
Procurement and finance	Anti-bribery, gifts, conflicts and fraud detection	Annually
Contractors on Company sites	Site conduct and reporting briefing	Before site access

No person shall be deployed until they have signed the Acknowledgement and Declaration at Annex A. Training shall be delivered in a language the participant understands, and understanding shall be verified rather than assumed. Attendance and comprehension records shall be retained.

29. No Concealment or Preferential Treatment

No director, manager, supervisor or employee may:

- conceal an offence to protect the Company's reputation, a contract or a relationship;
- resolve a criminal allegation privately, or through customary compensation, without proper authority;
- intimidate, pressure or "compensate" a survivor or witness;
- alter, destroy, backdate or lose records;
- prevent, delay or discourage a report to the police;
- protect an offender because of rank, relationship, clan, nationality or operational importance; or
- retaliate against a person who reports misconduct.

Any manager who knowingly conceals a Category A offence, or who fails to act on a report they received, may face disciplinary action up to and including termination, whether or not the underlying allegation is ultimately substantiated.

30. Relationship with Local Communities

All personnel shall remember that Company operations depend upon the confidence of landowners, community leaders, churches, government authorities and local families. The Company's licence to operate is granted daily by the people who live alongside it.

Personnel shall:

- behave as respectful guests at all times;
- observe lawful community protocols and seek guidance from Community Liaison before acting;
- communicate with communities only through authorised channels;
- avoid personal involvement in landowner, clan or political disputes;
- protect women, children and vulnerable persons;
- avoid behaviour likely to cause family or community conflict;
- never exchange Company resources, employment or protection for personal, financial or sexual favours;
- never make promises on behalf of the Company; and
- immediately report any threat to community safety or welfare, and any grievance raised by a community member.

Community grievances shall be recorded, acknowledged within five (5) working days, investigated and responded to, and shall be reported in the monthly community relations report.

31. Conduct Outside Working Hours

Off-duty conduct may result in disciplinary action where it:

- constitutes a criminal offence;
- threatens or harms another employee or community member;
- affects fitness for duty;

- damages the Company's reputation, licence or client relationships;
- compromises security;
- creates a conflict of interest;
- breaches accommodation or camp rules; or
- undermines the trust required for continued deployment.

Being off duty shall not excuse conduct prohibited by this Policy. The Company does not seek to regulate private life beyond what is necessary to protect people, operations and its licence to operate.

32. Records, Data Protection and Retention

The Company shall maintain secure, accurate and confidential records of allegations, risk assessments, investigation reports, evidence, interview notes, responses, disciplinary decisions, police referrals, repatriation actions, training, registers and corrective measures.

Record	Minimum retention
Signed Policy acknowledgements	Duration of engagement plus 7 years
Category A case files	10 years from closure, or longer where litigation, prosecution or a child is involved
Category B and C case files	5 years from closure
Use of force and weapons registers	10 years
Gifts, hospitality and conflict declarations	7 years
Training and competency records	Duration of engagement plus 5 years
Drug and alcohol testing records	5 years, stored separately from personnel files with restricted access

Information shall be disclosed only to persons who require it for safety, investigation, legal, disciplinary, insurance or regulatory purposes. Case files shall be held separately from general personnel files, with access logged. Personal data shall be processed lawfully, fairly and only for the purposes of this Policy, and shall be protected against unauthorised access, loss or disclosure in accordance with applicable law in both jurisdictions.

33. Monitoring, Assurance and Performance Indicators

The Ethics and Compliance Officer shall report quarterly to the Managing Director, and annually to the Board, against the following indicators:

Indicator	Target
Personnel with signed acknowledgement before deployment	100%
Personnel completing pre-deployment ethics and safeguarding training	100%
Reports acknowledged within the times set in Section 14.1	100%
Category A investigations completed within 30 days	95%

Indicator	Target
Substantiated retaliation against a good-faith reporter	Zero
Corrective actions closed by the due date	90%
Camps with a functioning, publicised confidential reporting channel	100%
Community grievances acknowledged within 5 working days	100%

The Company shall additionally conduct an annual internal compliance audit covering registers, case handling, training records and contractor compliance, and shall support client and third-party audits under contract. Findings shall be tracked to closure.

34. Policy Authority, Related Documents and Review

This Policy shall be read together with:

- individual employment, contractor and deployment contracts;
- the Company Code of Conduct;
- the Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy;
- the Drug, Alcohol and Kava Control Procedure;
- the Sexual Exploitation, Abuse and Harassment Prevention Policy;
- the Child Safeguarding Policy;
- the Whistleblower Protection Policy;
- the Security and Weapons Management Policy and the Use of Force Standard Operating Procedure;
- the Community and Landowner Engagement Framework and Grievance Mechanism;
- the HSSE Framework and Life-Saving Rules;
- the Integrated Security Solutions, Logistics and Procurement, Infrastructure and Engineering, and Corporate Support Services subsidiary policies and their Standard Operating Procedures;
- applicable Papua New Guinea laws and licence conditions; and
- applicable Republic of Fiji employment and recruitment requirements.

Where a conflict exists, applicable law shall prevail, followed by client contractual requirements where stricter, followed by this Policy.

This Policy shall be reviewed at least annually by the Ethics and Compliance Officer and approved by the Managing Director and the Board. It shall be reviewed earlier following any significant legal, regulatory, contractual or operational change, any Category A incident, any audit finding, or any client requirement. Amendments shall be recorded in the Revision History and communicated to all personnel, and material amendments shall require fresh acknowledgement.

Severability. If any provision of this Policy is found to be unlawful or unenforceable in a jurisdiction, that provision shall apply to the fullest extent permitted, and the remaining provisions shall continue in full force.

Annexes

Annex A — Employee Acknowledgement and Declaration

To be completed by every person before deployment, and retained by Human Resources.

I declare that:

- I have received, read and understood this Zero-Tolerance Conduct, Ethics and Prohibited Behaviour Policy, and I have had the opportunity to ask questions about it;
- I understand that deployment to Papua New Guinea is a privilege and is conditional upon my compliance;
- I shall not participate in, assist, procure, benefit from, conceal or tolerate any prohibited conduct;
- I understand that a credible serious allegation may result in my immediate removal from duty and from the operational area as a precaution, before any finding is made;
- I understand that substantiated serious misconduct may result in termination of my employment, repatriation, permanent exclusion from future deployment, and referral to the authorities;
- I understand my duty to report prohibited conduct, and that concealment is itself misconduct;
- I understand that I will not be penalised for a report made honestly and in good faith;
- I agree to comply with lawful drug, alcohol and kava testing;
- I agree to cooperate with lawful investigations and to preserve evidence;
- I agree to return all Company property when directed; and
- I undertake to behave with integrity and respect toward colleagues, clients, landowners and local communities.
